Melinda has an undergraduate degree in Business Administration & Management from the University of Lincoln, United Kingdom. She is a former human resource professional with over ten years' experience in people management and development. Over the last decade Melinda has provided coaching and mentoring services to employees on various levels in the organization. Her values are an integral part of leadership and is reflective in the level of integrity, passion, compassion and empathy shown to each of her clients.

In 2019, Melinda became a published author of her first book Transformist of the Heart and Soul. Melinda cites her own failures and experiences as being a major inspiration for her life: "My failures have been countless, but my willingness to rise has been relentless. I don't believe in rehearsing tragedy instead just positively embrace life. I can't control the outcome or the result of situations, but I can do my part by showing up and let the rest fall into place naturally."

Melinda dedicates her time to help the community by engaging in educational programs, volunteering at public schools and privately funded vocational institutions for adults and teens.

TESTIMONIAL

“Melinda has the perfect respectful approach in helping people, listening carefully and providing easy to understand advice to move forward. Her strength is clearly displaying empathy and developing a plan for success for her clients.”
